

Whosoever has abandoned a Muslim, Allāh (ﷻ) shall abandon him by Imam Ibn al-Qayyīm.

In the name of Allaah, the Most Merciful, the Bestower of Mercy

Imam Ibn al-Qayyīm (رحمه الله), may Allāh (ﷻ) have mercy upon him, said:

The recompense which is given is equivalent to its action in nature, in terms of good and evil

- So, whosoever guards a Muslim, Allāh (ﷻ) shall guard him
- And whosoever has brought ease upon the one who is in difficulty, Allāh (ﷻ) shall grant him ease in this world and the hereafter
- And whosoever relieves a believer from the distress of this world, Allāh (ﷻ) shall relieve him from distress upon the day of recompense
- And whosoever pardons the one who is regretful, Allāh (ﷻ) shall pardon his offence upon the day of recompense

- And whosoever keeps track of his brothers faults, Allāh (ﷻ) shall keep track of his faults
- And whosoever is harmful toward a Muslim, Allāh (ﷻ) shall be harmful toward him
- And whosoever is bothersome towards a believer, Allāh (ﷻ) shall inconvenience him
- And whosoever abandons a Muslim in a matter in which he requires assistance, Allāh (ﷻ) shall abandon him in a matter in which he requires help
- And whosoever is generous to a believer, Allāh (ﷻ) shall be generous toward him
- The most Merciful bestows mercy upon those who are merciful, and Allāh (ﷻ) only has mercy upon his servants who are merciful to others
- And whosoever spends freely, Allāh (ﷻ) will spend freely upon him
- And whosoever is mindful, Allāh (ﷻ) shall be mindful of him
- And whosoever forgives that which is within his right, Allāh (ﷻ) shall forgive him of that which he is deserving
- And whosoever transgresses against a believer, Allāh (ﷻ) shall transgress upon him

This is the ruling of Allāh (ﷻ), His decree, His revelation, His reward and His punishment, all in its entirety, established upon this foundation.

[نبي ع قوم لاء مال ع!] (150/1)

May Allāh (ﷻ) reward good to all those who read this and help to spread it.
