Indeed Allaah – Azza wa Jal⁵ – has said to you: Verily I have made five prayers obligatory upon your Ummah; whoever fulfils them with its Wudoo, its timing and Sujood (prostration) then he has made with it a contract with Me that I will enter him into Paradise due to it. Whoever meets Me and some of it is deficient - or a word similar to it – then he does not have a contract with Me, if I want I will punish him and if I want I will have mercy on him.

When we reached him, we gave our allegiance to him and prayed with him. We informed him that in our country we had a temple for worship and we requested from the Prophet (صلى الله عليه وسلم) the water which remained and fell from him after performing Wudoo.

So the Prophet called for some water, made Wudoo and gargled then poured it into the vessel and commanded us saying: 'Go now, when you reach your country break your temple and sprinkle this water in its place and take it as a place of prayer (Masjid).

Ahadeeth pertaining to the Adhaan and the Prayer

They said: Indeed the place is far away, the weather is severely hot and the water will dry up.

He answered: Pour some of this water into other water as it will not increase it except in goodness.'

As we were going, we argued as to who would carry the water container. So, the Messenger of Allaah (صلى الله عليه وسلم) deputed between us, that every man from amongst us would carry it for a day and night. When we reached our country we broke our temple then sprinkled the water in its place, we took it as a Masjid and then called the Adhaan in that place. There was a monk who was a man from a place called Tee' and when he heard the Adhaan he said: 'This is a truthful call.' Then he faced a stream from amongst our streams which ran from the top of the valley and we never saw him again.'

When I slept, I saw a dream that two Angels came and took me. They met another Angel who said: 'Don't fear,' so they took me to the Hellfire and it was folded like the walls surround the inside of a well. It had people in there, some of whom I knew. They took a hold of me from my right side. When I awoke in the morning, I mentioned it to Hafsa, the Mother of The Believers (rad iyallaahu `anhaa)^{9 10}.
