In the name of Allaah, the Most Merciful, the Bestower of Mercy

Question: May Allaah treat you well; the question says: I read that raising (i.e., the voice with) Dhikr after the obligatory prayer is the Sunnah. So what is the guideline regarding raising the voice because sometimes it annoys those who are praying Sunnahs?

(After the questioner repeats the question Shaykh Saalih al-Fawzaan (حفظه الله)¹ says):

The Sunnahs should not be prayed except after the Dhikr. They are mistaken who stand immediately after the Imaam issues the Tasleem; they stand and pray Sunnahs; this is a mistake. They should be patient and perform the Dhikr then stand and perform the Sunnahs. Also, it is prohibited to connect a prayer to another prayer without separating them with speech or moving (to another spot.)
